Working together to:

Understand Aged Care

If you are having trouble understanding aged care or working out which option is best for you, or you are worried about the cost, we can help you.

Find the right accommodation option

Whether you are downsizing, moving into a retirement village or supported care facility, we can guide you through the choices.

Remain independent at home

We can help you remain independent, safe and connected at home on your own terms.

Help in a crisis when you need it

If your loved one has had a fall or is in hospital and cannot return home, we can help you decide on a plan of action.

Our Mission is to enhance the well being and quality of life of our clients.

A wealth of expertise and experience

Margaret Harrison
LL.B B.Juris, GAICD
Director

Margaret practised as a lawyer for more than 20 years in private practice and as a corporate lawyer in a major Australian Bank.

Her legal expertise covers financial services and wealth management, dispute resolution, testator family maintenance, trust and probate law.

Her personal experience with her own elderly and frail parents led her to establish Signpost in 2012.

She has applied her skills to creating a new aged care service, providing high quality aged care advice and solutions.

Sara Cook
RN, Grad Dip Comm Nurs,
Master Bus Mgt Director

Sara combines business and nursing qualifications with 13 years' experience working in aged care and 30 years in the healthcare sector.

Sara's understanding of the aged care environment provides her with skills to guide families through the decision-making processes related to ageing.

In Sara's experience, many aged people are forced into making hasty decisions after suffering an acute episode and this results in unsatisfactory compromises in how they would like to spend the later part of their lives.
